

Facts at a Glance

Open Invention Network (OIN) is the only institution focused on mitigating patent risk in Open Source Software (OSS). OIN maintains the world's largest and oldest patent cross license, which offers patent protection coverage defined by its Linux System definition. By safeguarding against patent threats for nearly 20 years, OIN has encouraged the adoption of OSS which is the most significant driver of innovation in the 21st Century. Funded by Google, IBM/Red Hat, NEC, Philips, Sony, SUSE and Toyota, OIN has nearly 4,000 global members. The OIN patent license and member cross licenses are available royalty-free to any company or individual that joins the OIN community.
